

LibAnswers <maps@hcl-harvard.email.libanswers.com>

13/9/2022 14:44

[Harvard Map Collection] permission of using Harvard Map Collection, G6714_F5_1695_W5_5364085471

A Stefano Campus <stefano.campus@regione.piemonte.it>

--# Type your reply above this line #--

Bonnie Burns

Sep 13 2022, 07:48am via System

Hello Stefano,

This map is in the public domain and Harvard claims no copyright on the image. This is Harvard's policy on digital reproductions of its works in the public domain: <https://osc.hul.harvard.edu/pdpolicy>. You are free to use the map as you wish. We would appreciate a credit line saying where the original came from.

Regards,

Bonnie Burns

Original Question

Sep 13 2022, 04:13am via Email

permission of using Harvard Map Collection, G6714_F5_1695_W5_5364085471

Good morning, I need some information.

I am part of the user and developer community of QGIS, an open source desktop GIS software [1].

Every year the annual developers' meeting is held in a different city, and the next version of QGIS has as its initial splash page a map of the city that hosted the meeting.

This year the meeting was held in Florence at the end of August and, as the Italian community, we are preparing the splash page of the 3.28 QGIS version which will be called Firenze.

I found this map in your catalog [2] but I don't understand if this image is in public domain and if we can use it.

Could you please tell me if the image is in public domain?

thank you very much for your help

Stefano Campus

ps: Here you can find the history of all QGIS splash pages [3].

[1] www.qgis.org

[2] <https://curiosity.lib.harvard.edu/scanned-maps/catalog/44-990105957300203941>

[3] https://github.com/pigreco/splash_screen_QGIS

Regione Piemonte

Direzione Ambiente, energia e territorio

Settore Sistema informativo territoriale e ambientale

corso Bolzano, 44

10121 Torino

tel: +39 0114324210

mob: +39 3357771553

e-mail: stefano.campus@regione.piemonte.it

Harvard Map Collection Pusey Library Cambridge, MA 02138

This email is sent from Ask a Librarian in relationship to ticket #10098915.

Read our privacy policy.